The Washington Merry-Go-Round

DREW PEARSON

Washington, D. C.

STASSEN-DEWEY DOUBLE HITCH?

Very quiet moves have been launched recently by the Dewey and Stassen forces to get together in advance of the Chicago convention.

The approach was made through a close friend of Governor Stassen who came to see Governor Dewey the other day and suggested that while he couldn't speak outright for Stassen, the Stassen forces might be willing to get on the Dewey bandwagon if Stassen could be assured of the No. 2 spot on the Republican ticket.

Dewey replied that he had preferred Governor Warren of California, but he would certainly be glad to consider Stassen for vice president providing, of course, the Minnesota governor withdrew from the race for President in advance.

It was left that Stassen's friend would write to him asking him categorically whether he would withdraw from the presidential race if given the No. 2 place on the ticket, and also whether his forces would cooperate to nominate Dewey. There has not been time as yet to receive a reply.

What the Dewey forces want to prevent is any remote chance of a deadlock at Chicago which might swing the nomination to Stassen, Justice Owen D. Roberts or to Willkie. While they have so many delegates they don't believe there is much chance of this. Nevertheless, they know that Pennsylvania's Joe Pew has been hoping for a deadlock which would throw the convention to Justice Roberts.

NOTE—Friends of Roosevelt are frank in admitting they would much rather have Dewey as an opponent than Roberts. The Supreme court justice has cooperated with the President at Pearl Harbor, has an even better record than Dewey's in breaking up graft as prosecutor of the Teapot Dome scandals, is tall, handsome, a powerful, brilliant speaker. However, GOP diehards consider him too much in favor of international cooperation.

SEVEN-COME-ELEVEN

Maybe war leaders are superstitious or maybe there is something to the old seven-come-eleven system for shaking the dice. Anyway, Stanley Arnold of Cleveland has worked out a calendar of the war showing that every significant event has happened on either the seventh or eleventh of the month. Here is the calendar:

|---|---|
| Pearl Harbor | Dec. 7, 1941 |
| Declaration of war on Germany and Italy | Dec. 11, 1941 |
| Fall of Guam | Dec. 11, 1941 |
| Fall of Wake | Dec. 11, 1941 |
| Invasion of Singapore | Feb. 11, 1942 |
| Fall of Corregidor | May 7, 1942 |
| Invasion of Kiska | June 7, 1942 |
| Invasion of Guadalcanal | Aug. 7, 1942 |
| Invasion of No. Africa | Nov. 7, 1942 |
| Invasion of unoccupied France | Nov. 11, 1942 |
| Retaking of Tunis and Bizerte | May 7, 1943 |
| Retaking of Attu | May 11, 1943 |
| Fall of Pantelleria | June 11, 1943 |

Finally Mr. Arnold points out that the recent renewed attack on Italy started May 11 at 11 p. m.

BREWSTER AXED

The navy has decided that the controversial Brewster Aeronautical corporation will be the first to feel the axe of discontinued war production.

This is good news for the country in that it means that war losses of airplanes are less than expected and that the navy will not need so many replacements. Actually our losses in the Pacific have been about 50 per cent less than estimated.

Also, the news is extremely significant for the airplane industry, because Brewster will be the first big plane company to be turned loose on its own to manufacture commercial planes—if it can get priorities. If it can't get them, it will have to fold.

The Chance Vought company, also making Corsairs (the same type of plane as Brewster), will continue operation, largely because they were the chief pioneers of Corsairs. Also, the Goodyear company will continue, they being about to start on a big new navy plane.

But the Brewster company will now have to fight either for new war contracts or else for priorities for commercial planes. It will be an uphill fight.

NOTE—The Brewster plant near Philadelphia, built with U. S. government funds, will be taken over by the navy and will work on "modification"—in other words, planes that need minor changes. The other Brewster plants around New York will finish up what they are working on and then fold.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

¶ Mrs. Harold Burton, wife of the Ohio senator, complained that her husband's inside coat pocket bulged out with too many papers. So Burton now has his tailor put an inside pocket on both sides, to distribute the burden.

¶ It never leaked out at the time but, on December 7, 1943, the army was worried over a possible token attack on Pearl Harbor as an anniversary raid. The whole island was alerted for fear the Japs would repeat their original performance.

Anniversary of "Y" Observed At Club's Luncheon

The program of the Kiwanis club Tuesday was in recognition of the one hundredth anniversary of the Y. M. C. A.

Orin Bell, chairman of the day, introduced Mervin Nelson of the Campbell high school, president of the Hi Y Excelsior club, who gave a brief talk on the formation of the Hi Y club movement in this country, there now being over 2,000,000 members. A movie of the origin of the Y. M. C. A. was shown, entitled "Men of Tomorrow." The "Y" has over 3,000,000 members in the world.

Many scenes of "Y" activities were depicted and the values of these activities to the youth of the world. Secretary Ralph G. Cole of the San Jose Y. M. C. A. spoke on the start of the "Y" movement, its tremendous spread, and of its promising future. He, personally, has travelled extensively for the "Y" in Europe, the Islands and the Orient.

Next week Secretary Cole will again be the speaker, his topic "Reminiscences of Foreign Travels," with Ray Mathis chairman.

Gillis-Driedger Nuptials Observed At Calvary Church

On Thursday, June 1, at 8:30 p. m. in Calvary Methodist church of San Jose, Miss Lee Gillis and Mr. Henry J. Driedger were united in matrimony by Rev. D. H. Baldwin of the Campbell Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Strayer of Calvary church, using the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, M. E. Purmort of Campbell, and was attended by her cousin, Mrs. R. P. Marr (Marie Purmort), while Mr. George Janish acted as groom's man.

Miss Gillis had selected for her marriage an ensemble of pastel gold with black accessories. She carried a Bible which had been given her by her father when a child, decorated with a shower bouquet of light blue delphiniums. The groom's suit was of white wool.

A very pretty, enjoyable reception was given, following the wedding, at the home of the groom's family on North Seventh street.

The young couple have made their home in South Second street in San Jose.

Information On "P. W." Mail

Mail to prisoners of war should be handed in at a post office enclosed in two envelopes, according to information received by the public relations department of the National Automobile club. The outer envelope should be unsealed, unstamped, and addressed: Postmaster—Prisoner of War Mail. The inside envelope should be properly addressed and stamped. This assures the sender that postage cancellation stamp will not bear any war slogan such as "Buy War Bonds" "for Victory," etc. because mail bearing patriotic insignia or slogans is confiscated by the enemy and it does not reach the prisoner.

Rev. Bennett left Monday for Grand Rapids, Michigan, as a representative to the general conference of Congregational churches, and will also visit with his son, Dennis, who is attending theological school in Chicago and filling a student preacher position at Amboy, Illinois.

Rev. D. H. Baldwin is in attendance at the Methodist conference being held in Sacramento.

Bobby and Beulah Garcia went over to Black Slough Saturday and brought Mrs. Beryl Garcia and infant daughter, Judy, back with them for a week's visit. Mrs. Garcia was a former resident of Campbell and graduate of the local high school.

Mrs. Archie Keesling Retires

Mrs. Archie Keesling, who is retiring from the teaching profession, was pleasantly surprised last Friday evening, May 26, at the Cambrian school with a party given in her honor by the Cambrian Home and School club.

Mrs. Clarence Fagelde, who with Mrs. Thompson was chairman of the evening, presented Mrs. Keesling to the group and thanked her for her many years of service to the community. Mrs. Keesling responded by saying how enjoyable those years of service have been. Little Miss Virginia Leight presented Mrs. Keesling with a French bouquet. The following program was then presented to the group:

Boys' quintet — Charles Keesling, Donald Weickert, Ellis Fischer, Richard Azevedo and Billy Hunt

Clarinet solo — Charles Keesling

Piano solo — Maureen Suin

Violin solo — Ellis Fischer

Ballet dance — Kay Pickering.

Following the program a social time was enjoyed by all, during which time group singing was held and cake and punch were enjoyed by all.

Local P. G. & E. Office to Move

The P. G. & E local collection office which has been in the office of the Campbell Water Co. for the past 17 years, will be removed at the close of business June 30. As yet no new location for the agency has been secured, but further announcement will be made.

The growth of the Campbell population, which has greatly increased the work of both the Water Company and the P. G. & E., which covers a still wider area, together with the preparation of the many governmental and other reports, has made it impossible for the Water Co. continuing to conduct both offices.

Adah Rebekah Lodge Is Active

Adah Rebekah lodge met Tuesday night, June 6th, with Eva Dahl, Noble Grand, presiding. Distinguished visitor for the evening was Francis LaSource from Santa Monica.

A committee headed by Bonnie Silberbauer will serve sandwiches at the USO June 8th. The elective officers for the new term are Virginia Currie, Noble Grand; Helen Rice, Vice Grand; Lillian Ohlen, recording secretary; Emma Cooper, financial secretary; Zadie Rice, treasurer; and Lottie Rice, trustee.

The committee for the evening served delicious refreshments during the social hour. The next regular meeting will be June 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd R. Weiss of San Jose have purchased the Charles R. Rogers house on West Campbell avenue, and they in turn have acquired a home in San Mateo, and the parties will move this week-end. Weiss has been employed at Hendy's in Sunnyvale for several years.

Homer Hyde was up from Hollywood over the week-end for a short visit with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hyde went up to San Francisco Tuesday, where he reported at Stanford-Lane for a check-up.

Ralph Vick, who is in the army air corps, has been home for two weeks but is leaving again for further training. He received his wings at a recent graduation but the army is not giving its present graduates a lieutenancy.

Cambrian School Teachers Given Pot-Luck Lunch

The gardens at the home of Mrs. Roy Stoner on Union avenue were the place chosen for the annual pot-luck luncheon given on May 20 in honor of the teachers of Cambrian school. About 50 people were there to enjoy the luncheon and the delightful program that followed.

It included a tap dance by Kay Pickering; tap dance, Marie Avery; and a fashion show of costumes of former years, displayed by Mesdames Arthur Thayer, Roy Stoner, Arno Doerr, Raymond Flagg, Archie Keesling, Henry Jensen, Ward Edsinger, Norman Pratt and Lloyd Seiler. ## Country Women Hold Annual Picnic Monday

The lovely and spacious garden of Mrs. A. W. Wellington of Infirmary road was the setting for the annual picnic with which the Campbell Country Woman's club ended activities for the year, on Monday, June 5. The highlight of the afternoon was the installation of officers for the coming year.

Installing officer was Mrs. W. R. Morgan, past president of the organization, and those inducted into office were Mrs. C. B. Field, president; Mrs. W. F. Grattan, first vice-president; Mrs. A. W. Wellington, second vice-president; Mrs. C. E. Hancock, treasurer; Mrs. Sue Boyce, recording secretary; Mrs. E. R. Kennedy, corresponding secretary; Mrs. G. E. Jeffers, parliamentarian; and Mesdames Anthonq Jurras and J. C. Agostinhon, directors-at-large.

After the summer recess the club will resume activities on September 25.

Committe for the afternoon was Mesdames W. R. Morgan, Anthony Jurras, Edna Smith and Georgene Kidward, assisted by Mesdames W. J. Higgenbotham, H. F. Cousins and J. C. Agostinho.

In dismissing the members for the summer recess, the president entertained with the following following original ditty:

It is time for partng, and starting a-new
We'll miss Becky sorely, whatever we do,
Her charm and her dash and her friendship for all
Her attention to detail and her tact we'll recall
With the hope that she'll will us just half of her skill,
Along with her loyalty, love and good will
That she's won from you all and her Board tried and true.
We'll need it next fall for there's much left to do.
But Eliza will guide us, we can't go far wrong
So look at your programs and see where you belong.
The Program Committee has done all it could
To put you in the spot where you'll do the most good.
The Standing Committees are changed just a bit:
For renting the hall, now Nona is IT.
Publicity's Frances, for Gertrude must work
On Red Cross with Jessie, and not let us shirk
Our full war-time duty, to knit and to sew,
Make dressings or robes, as we voted you know.
Library Committee our new talent will show
And will help our investment in good books to grow.
The new Program Committee, you'll note, by the way,
Will not be so Grim, but it may go a-Stray.
The House Committee has two chairmen now
So Millie and Marion will both tell us how
To clean up the place in an orderly way
Whenever we've finished our work for the day.
All these chairmen are asking that Members help, too
As you always have done, and we know you will do.
When we meet in the fall, may it truly be said
That the Club is alive and the TERMITES ARE DEAD!*

*It has recently been discovered that termites are working in the foundations of the Library building, and a termite control expert has been hired to take care of the trouble.

Miss Jeanette Collins, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Collins, who has been employed in San Francisco, returned to Campbell Monday to remain for the summer. Miss Collins has accepted a position in the high school at Escalon for next school year, where she will teach physical education to the girls, one unit of English, and have charge of the library.

Faculty Undergoes Many Changes

W. H. Van Dyke and Six Teachers Leaving Here

Six teachers are leaving Campbell High when school closes this spring, some to go to new teaching jobs, some to enter other fields of work.

As previously announced, Principal Willard Van Dyke will go to Tamalpais High School, Mill Valley, to take over the principalship there. Among his teachers will be Miss Frances Parks, social studies teacher and freshman counselor. She will teach history at Tamalpais. Miss Ruth Eales leaves Campbell to go to Redwood City, where she will be a physical education instructor at Sequoia High School.

Miss Elna Peterson, who has taught foods and home management and has supervised the Campus Canteen, is planning to become a dietitian either in a hospital or under army supervision. Two other departing instructors are Miss Paula Bradshaw and Miss Dorothy Thompson of the English department. Miss Bradshaw hopes to locate in San Francisco but has not yet made definite plans for her future. Miss Thompson hopes to get into journalistic work.

Mr. Guilbert DuMont plans to study music and then go into radio work.

With Mr. and Mrs. Van Dyke these teachers were honored at a party in the sewing room Thursday afternoon. Candlelight and flowers gave the room a festive appearance as Mr. Ralph E. Noddin made a farewell speech concluding with the presentation to Mr. Van Dyke of a marine painting by Campbell artist Frank H. Cutting. Feminine honor guests received corsages, Mr. DuMont a flower for his lapel.

Hostesses were Mrs. Alfreda Runge, Mrs. Gladys Ruf, and Miss Mary Lewis.

Baccalaureate Held for Seniors

The graduating class of '44 was honored at the annual Baccalaureate services Sunday in the auditorium.

Speaker for the afternoon was Rev. Donald H. Baldwin, assisted by Rev. Joseph H. Bennett. Rev. Baldwin spoke on "The Beginning of Wisdom."

The processional and the recessional were accompanied by the High School Ensemble directed by Mr. Guilbert DuMont.

The A Capella Choir sang "O Worship the Lord," "Heavenly Light," the "Doxology," and the Benediction. The choir was led by Mr. C. P. Klassen.

The attractive stained glass window effect on the stage was created by Miss Lewis and her art class, and the choir singing in the balcony gave the effect of a church setting.

The seniors in their caps and gowns made an impressive sight as they marched into the auditorium and were seated in the first five rows in the center section with friends and relatives to surround them.

'44 Orioles Greet Students Today

Excited cries are being heard around the halls of Campbell today as students get their first view of the new 1944 Orioles. Seniors were able to obtain the yearbook yesterday, but the lower classmen received theirs a day later.

Horrified but happy students gasp as that "candid shot" is seen to have an honored spot among other snaps. This year's Oriole will have a special significance to those graduating or going into the service, for it is their last means of holding on to the happy days of high school. The annual mad rush to get one's book signed is progressing as usual.

Commissioner of Literary Affairs Celiabel Pettis and her staff deserve special thanks for the time and work taken to make this year's Oriole a treat for freshmen and seniors alike.

THE BOOK MARK

by marty

News of new arrivals:

"SOCIAL PLANNING BY FRONTIER THINKERS" by Matthew Page Andrews.

Fulton Lewis Jr. had this to say about the book over the air on May 5th: "This book is written by one of the most distinguished of contemporary historians, Mr. Matthew Page Andrews. It's in the form of a transcript of ten sessions of a special adult class in this New Economic order, which these super-mind gentlemen propose. . . Some of you, perhaps, may agree with the professor. A great many more of you will violently disagree with him, and his whole theory. But, in any event, you ought to read the book, because here for the first time is a clear and simple picture of the whole theory, that is proposed for tomorrow."

"NORTHWEST OF THE WORLD" by Olaf Swenson.

For forty years Olaf Swenson hunted and traded in Northern Siberia, making his first trip at the beginning of the century. The vast deserted frozen lands of "Northwest of the World" are brought home to us in this book. The author not only tells a thrilling adventure yarn but also gives his readers a finished picture of the frozen North's uninhabited tundra, its lonely grandeur and its kindly, friendly inhabitants.

"TARAWA" by Robert Sherrod.

From the northern extreme to the southern extreme of this world globe, the incoming books are inclusive this week. "Tarawa" needs no explanation. It is bloody. It is war. Read it to know more about what our boys are up against.

"TEN YEARS IN JAPAN" by Joseph C. Grew.

Here is a contemporary record drawn from the diaries and private and official papers of Ambassador Grew, who served our country from 1932-1942.

"The power men possess to annoy me I give them."—Emerson.

An Urgent Message

To every parent and every boy and girl, 16 or over

This summer, every high school boy and girl of 16 or over is urgently needed to help meet a serious emergency facing California—the job of producing 1 billion cans of fruit and vegetables for the Armed Forces.

WHY IS THERE AN EMERGENCY?

This year, the government has ordered the major part of the California "pack"—far more than last year. This year, only a handful of regular cannery workers is left—left to do a job which will take 150,000 people! This year, the crops are heavier—meaning more work than ever if they are to be saved. That is why this job is so urgent.

NO EXPERIENCE NEEDED

Any average person can do cannery work and do it well. In fact, many boys and girls worked last year and did an outstanding job. And remember, this is a home town job in one of your home town canneries—probably not very far from where you live.

WHAT'S IT LIKE IN A CANNERY?

Something like a huge and bustling kitchen. Cases of food coming in, cases of cans going out. Girls sorting, paring, packing . . . boys handling crates, stacking, doing odd jobs, maybe a bit of mechanical work. The work isn't glamorous or too easy. Perhaps a little tiring at first. But after you get the swing of it, you'll become deft and fast. And above all, you'll get the honest satisfaction of seeing food, packed by your own hands, going to men who are using theirs to fight for you.

INSTRUCTORS AND SUPERVISORS HELP YOU

They'll "show you the ropes," get you started. And of course, they're concerned in keeping the kind of friendly atmosphere which makes the job roll smoothly. Always adequate relief periods for relaxation and meals.

WAGES ARE EXCELLENT

You will make good money. Your work isn't just a patriotic gesture. Boys and girls get regular cannery wages, same as men and women. Which means a fine chance to make some real money for War Bonds or towards college expenses or for what you will. (You'd be surprised how much some boys and girls saved last year).

WHEN YOU ARE NEEDED

The big peak comes in July, August and September. That's when the bulk of the crops pour in, flooding the canneries. That's when the fruit must be canned or be left to rot. That's when you are urgently needed. Some canneries may need you now.

WHAT TO DO RIGHT NOW

First see your school counsellor about getting a work permit. Then register at your nearest cannery or U. S. Employment Office—either in person, by phone, or by writing in. Say when you can work and for what period. Plan to work full-time if possible, part-time ( 4or 5 hours a day) at least. But plan to work. And don't get impatient if you're not called immediately. There will be work for you and you will be called.

HERE'S YOUR "GUIDEBOOK"

on types of work, hours, transportation, etc.

WHO IS NEEDED. Everyone who can work. Boys and girls 16 and 17 need Work Permits from their school department.

WHEN. July, August, September are the "rush" months. Work full-time if possible, work part-time at least.

KIND OF WORK—WOMEN. Mainly piecework . . . sorting, peeling, cutting or canning. Some jobs paid by the hour. MEN. General manual and mechanical work. Usually paid by the hour.

HOURS. All plants work a day shift, starting around 7:00 a. m. Many work night shifts besides. Meal period follows each 5 hours work. Adequate relief periods. Length of shifts naturally varies with amount of work to be done.

TRANSPORTATION. Most canneries are near bus and car lines. If you plan to drive, you can get supplemental rations from your local board as cannery work is officially recognized war work. Your employer will help you make application for such extra allotment.

CONVENIENCES. Most plants have a cafeteria. All canneries have first aid rooms with nurses in attendance.

JOB CLEARANCE, SOCIAL SECURITY NO. You don't need a job clearance if you have not been employed for 60 days or if you are working elsewhere and plan to put in extra time at a cannery. If uncertain, first ask at any U.S. Employment Office. They will assist you. If you don't already have a Social Security No., apply for one at any post offiice. Or you can start work and then apply for one.

Hedda Hopper: Looking at HOLLYWOOD

THE other day when I was at the M-G-M studio I decided to call on my old friend Sidney Franklin. He's their top producer now, and the only one who has proved himself worthy of stepping into Irving Thalberg's shoes. If you challenge this I'd like to remind you that it was Sidney who directed such films as "The Good Earth," "Barretts of Wimpole Street," "Smilin' Through," and "The Guardsman." And he has produced "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," "Mrs. Miniver," "Madame Curie," "Random Harvest," and "White Cliffs." How's that for a record? Guess there can be no protest about whose shoes Sidney Franklin is standing in!

Sidney Franklin

We've been friends for so many years I don't like to count them. Let's settle for a quarter of a century! So when I breezed up to his office I knew I'd be welcome. However, I knocked politely and waited. A barking dog answered me, so I opened the door and walked in. What met my startled glance? Four solemn men were seated in a semicircle looking intently at Sidney, who was crawling on his hands and knees from behind the couch, barking!

"What gives?" says I.

Sidney rose, blushed a little, and extended his hand. "I haven't gone to the demnition bowwows," says he. "I was just acting out the pup's scene!"

There's Teamwork

And there you have the answer to his success; there isn't even the smallest role in any of his pictures that doesn't come alive in Sidney's office before the scenario is handed over to the director and actors. These men with him were writers, director, and art director. They filed out soberly, as we all do when we have just been impressed by some one's knowledge and integrity, leaving Sid and me to talk about the old days; about those years of struggle and all they entail. Sidney likes to talk about the past. So do I.

Sidney came here from San Francisco 30 years ago. He was then a school boy on a summer vacation, hanging around the gates of the old Selig studio and trying to catch a glimpse of the mysteries beyond. One day a husky guy was unloading equipment from a big van. He saw this shy kid looking up at him with eager eyes. "Wanta lug this camera into the studio for me?"

Gadgets to Grease Paint

Sidney sprang into action, and once inside those gates, they couldn't get rid of him. There was drive and determination in that kid. By the time he took a job in the old Hobart Bosworth studio, about a year later, he had schooled himself to do so many chores, and to do them well, that he was nicknamed Sid Detail. Then came that memorable day when an actor didn't show up. He was scheduled to play opposite a growling grizzly bear! Several actors refused the role. At last driven to desperation, the director yelled, "Where's Sid Detail?"

Around the corner came little Sid—so thin he could sit on a dime and show the edges. He looked at the bear. The bear looked at him. But Sid Detail was used to taking orders, and the director was telling him what he was to do in the scene. An hour later, when the cameras stopped grinding, a comedian was born. He could have taken his place beside Harold Lloyd or the others.

Brawn and Brain

All of us urged him to go on acting. But he lacked the self-exploitation actors need. Direction interested him more. In that capacity he could express himself behind the camera, pulling the strings, a shadowy figure on the sidelines. But, having the potentialities of a fine actor, he helps his writers to visualize scenes, always acting out every role until they themselves can detect any false situations or actions. A hard taskmaster—all perfectionists are. But his writers love him, even when he wears them to the bone. One of them said: "Hedda, that guy works from the heart as well as the brain. In story conferences he's inspirational and untiring."

I smiled. I'd listened to the same story for years, but in spite of this grueling work in the Franklin unit there isn't a writer who doesn't plead for the opportunity.

Impressive Christening

I've done nothing to deserve the honor that was bestowed on me recently, when I christened one of Douglas' C-47 ambulance planes which the company is naming Hedda Hopper. Having one of those giant birds of mercy bearing your name is something to have lived for . . . When Asta, "Thin Man's" dog, hears his name he barks, so a line in "Thin Man Comes Home" about Astor hotel had to be changed to Sherry-Netherlands hotel. Whenever they said "Astor," the dog barked.

FLAG DAY

With the Stars and Stripes flying proudly over the heads of our fighting men in every section of the globe, Flag Day this year will have a deeper meaning to us all.

Since a year ago at this time "Old Glory" has been raised over many a Pacific island in the march back toward the Philippines and the eventual liberation of the peoples of the Far East. It is wth our troops in the European area for the greatest invasion of all history.

Back in the days of the Revolutionary War when the 13 stars and 13 stripes first appeared as the banner of the Colonies fighting for freedom, Tom Paine uttered the historic words which are just as applicable to the present struggle as they were when we first took up arms against tyranny. "It is the object only of war that makes it honorable. And if there was ever a just war since the world began, it is this in which America is now engaged. . . . We fight not to enslave, but to set a country free, and to make room upon the earth for honest men to live in."

Under this banner we shall go forward as a united people, refusing to be divided by the attempts of our enemies to divide us into religious, racial or economic groups. We shall continue to prove that America is "one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

MORALITY'S MORTALITY

The casualties of war never are restricted to the wounded and dead left in the wake of battle. During and after every war, moral values have degenerated—and morality's mortality rate in this war is rising rapidly.

Nat Pieper, special agent in charge of the FBI in San Francisco, warns that juvenile delinquency in the United States is piling up war casualty lists as grievous as those issued by the armed forces. Nearly 23 per cent of all persons arrested last year, reports FBI Agent Pieper, were under 21 years of age. And arrests of young girls last year increased 130 per cent over 1941, the last peacetime year.

There is no escape from the fact that war breeds a hysterical disregard for accepted moral standards, but that certainly does not mean that we can disregard the problem and ease our consciences by dismissing the condition as inevitable. Our dangerously mounting juvenile delinquency records are a challenge to the home, the church and the school, as well as our courts and social agencies, to reduce such casualities and to provide rehabilitation where the damage already has been done. Most of all the obligation rests on parents, for a sound sense of values and strong moral standards, instilled at home, are still the best guarantee that youngsters will have the moral fiber they so badly need in today's war-rocked world.

F. F. A. NOTES

At an F.F.A. meeting last week officers for the fall semester were elected as follows: President, Doug Hughes; vice-president, David Keesling; secretary, Richard Savoni; treasurer, Bob O'steen; reporter, Bob Knowles; sergeant-at-arms, Alfred Testa.

They are already "laying ten to one" on who will catch the biggest fish at the F.F.A. outing in the Santa Cruz mountains next week-end.

A nice gesture I call it. The chapter turned out to set tomato plants last Friday for Jack Farnham, our hard luck boy, out with the mumps.

That shop is fast emptied of projects preparatory to a general house cleaning and tool reconditioning the last week of school.

Twelve and one-half thousand tomato plants was the chapter's contribution to the Food Production Program. Incidentally it netted a neat $100.00 profit upon delivery to the Pratt Low Canning Company last week.

Jack Farnham, Doug Hughes, and Lawrence Groteguth, accompanied by Mr. Ralston, journeyed to Hollister last week to look over that school's farming set-up. Groteguth purchased what appears to be a grand champion registered Duroc gilt.

To the People of this Community ©

This is a home front communique on the most vital war action now in progress in every community of the land—the Fifth War Loan.

We are advancing on our objective. However, we must make certain that we reach and pass our goal by July 8. This can be done if every one of us puts something extra of ourselves into the fight.

No one needs to remind you that it is an American trait to go into a sprint with the goal in sight.

We started this push June 12. Reports from every city and town in America tell us that the number of individual buyers of extra War Bonds today has reached an unprecedented total. We all know that in addition to numbers we need fire power. Your extra War Bond is absolutely essential. The greater the stockpile of War Bonds, the easier it will be for us to get this war over.

This very moment our boys are waging a life-and-death struggle. Every additional War Bond you buy will play its part in the outcome. Last month's War Bond, last week's War Bond, yesterday's War Bond are already in the embattled foxholes. Today is another day for the home front just as today is another day for the boys on the battlefronts.

Type 'A' Flu

The symptoms of type "A" flu are usually headache, backache, muscular aches, fever, and/or a chill along with the symptoms of a common cold. Usually this type of flu hits all at once, and you long for nothing so much as to crawl into bed, which is the very best thing to do. Keep warm; drink lots of water, fruit juices, and soup; eat lightly; stay in bed until you feel good—at least 24 hours after the end of any fever.

Reckon They's Crazy

By EDWIN T. STRAYER
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

LITTLE Darling got up with tears of pain and anger in his eyes and swung his three hundred pounds at the Great Halenay. Halenay ducked, but I noticed it was only by a risky margin. He was grinning though, so he still had plenty left! Little Darling swabbed his face with his huge arm, trying to wipe off the sweat. I believe he'd have given that arm to beat Halenay. Just once!

The miners were crowding around but no one dared to stop the fight. The antagonism between the two dated back a full year. The very first thing that Halenay had done, as soon as he got a job at St. Michael's, was to start picking on Little Darling, as the men called the enormous fellow. Some of them were actually sticking at St. Mike's just to see how it would all turn out. To see if Little Darling would ever give in. But why was the Great Halenay so gleeful? The tiny guy was smiling delightedly and waiting, waiting . . . waiting.

Little Darling bore down again. At the last possible second, Halenay took a single step in and to the side. One swing — and poor big Darling plunked down in the mud again. Without being able to hear what they said, he had a feeling that the men on the side lines were laughing at him. His fury increased by degrees. Great fat tears of rage stood in his eyes. Seeing Halenay smiling broadly with that bedeviling, serene confidence, he could have killed him with an all-satisfying pleasure. He sprang up and lunged forward like a charging bull. The little guy must have had all the stuff in the world or he'd have run from that mountain of evil. But he seemed to get results without moving around too much and it certainly exasperated the big boy.

None of us saw Halenay strike. But suddenly there was the sound of a thud and Little Darling was on his face in the muck. It looked sort of bad, him lying there helpless. After all, he was a man. And we were supposed to be men, too. But we left him stretched out, like a big helpless hog. Some of the miners looked odd but still they hesitated to touch him. His head was buried in the mud that hundreds of heavy boots had been kneading all winter with cigarette stubs and discarded plugs. He finally glanced around, but so feebly that I thought he was about to die.

But he didn't die. No, by Godfrey! That bruised hulk had been thinking. Thinking! Suddenly he lifted a ham of a hand and motioned the little guy to come over to him.

Little Darling reached slowly, limply, up to the Great Halenay. Did he want to forgive? To kiss him good-bye? But, instead, his great fingers locked themselves around the little one's neck. To say that Halenay was astonished is to put it mildly. He seemed to be trying to keep his eyes from bulging out. It looked like his end and no one had the courage to help him. He had asked for it — now he was getting it. Yes, by his bluish face, you'd say he was getting IT. There was probably just enough oxygen reaching his brain to supply the energy for one more idea. He acted on it right away. He went expertly "dead" in Little Darling's grasp. He hung there exactly as if only the warmth of his body kept him from growing rigid. So, the rage gone from his face, the big brute let him slide to the ground.

Almost instantly Halenay was up on his feet, but keeping away, keeping away all the time. If I ever saw anyone save his breath, it was that midget miner. He kept his eyes open just wide enough to watch his playmate and he would move out of range barely in time to escape a charge. And soon the fishlike, gasping look left his face; he seemed pretty fit again, more like himself. But he waited another three minutes before he took any chances. His old strength was coming back. Now it was clear that he was the cruel one. The Great Halenay grew deadly. His moving body took on a definite rhythm. His timing was actually that of a dance.

It was the first word spoken in the bout and it seemed to turn the tide. Swift as a striking snake, he proceeded to pass out the sweets. His huge opponent could do nothing. With his left hand Halenay grabbed him by the neck and with his right cut his eye open. Reversing hands for holds, he gashed his other eye with his bullet fist. Then he stepped back quickly and I could see the blood streaming down both sides of Little Darling's face.

Halenay moved in again. He sank one hard, ripping blow into the giant belly. It jerked inward and from somewhere came a deep groan. Halenay grabbed his man with both hands so that he couldn't fall. Then he put another crippler in the same spot. That was enough! In fact, judging from a sight of Little Darling's face, it was too much. Anyone could see that there was no more fight in him.

But now that it was all over, there were tears in Halenay's eyes. I had to look twice to make sure. Jiminy, I was glad! I reckoned they was crazy but at least I knew they was human too. Little Darling proved it. He looked up at the Great Halenay and said, "Blast yuh, if yuh hadn't been my own born brother I'd a gived up long ago!"
